

Interesting Sights and Facts

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Thursday, 12 July 2007 11:39

Though the AVA rally is over, the good riding weather remains so this morning we went for a cruise along the Needles Highway to Sylvan Lake . Our ride took us through some crazy, tiny tunnels, in really beautiful country and on some very cool roads for motorcycling. Today's pictures are of Sylvan Lake (I thought it was gorgeous and the picture just can't capture it fully) and the other, one of the narrow tunnels along the Needles Highway.

Motorcyclists are this part of the world's bread and butter and they are welcomed everywhere. As I mentioned earlier, the Sturgis Bike Week which begins next month, brings over a half a million people here and in actuality lasts for closer to three weeks. Everywhere we've been there have been dozens of RV parks and most seem almost empty. We've wondered how they stay in business and today we learned that many of them make most of their annual income in that three week period. Likewise there are businesses here that only open for one month a year.

Interesting Sights and Facts

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Thursday, 12 July 2007 11:39

Sally's Story The Big Stone