

The Perfect RV

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Tuesday, 05 November 2002 00:00

Rick and I read every magazine on motor homes we could find. We went on line and ordered brochures from several manufacturers and poured over them daily. One day we went for a drive to the Toronto area and ended up at Outdoor Travel just off of the Burlington Skyway. There, we were introduced to a Travel Supreme and knew that we had found the motorhome of our dreams.

We decided that we needed to go to Indiana and tour Travel Supreme's factory to see how they are made. It was the most interesting experience and we were then convinced that we were making the right decision. The area of Indiana that Travel Supreme is located in is in the heart of RV land. There are many manufacturers all within 30 miles of each other and showrooms everywhere. We decided to do some comparison shopping and after two days of checking out many brands and styles we knew our first choice was the right choice.

When we got back to Ontario, we placed our order for a 41 foot, Travel Supreme Select with three slide-outs. We then had to wait four to five months to take delivery. Our only concern was that the house would sell too soon!